

Dr. Joseph Kenkel Observes Silver Jubilee

Ordained December 29, 1918, the Rev. Doctor Joseph B. Kenkel, C.P.P.S., chose Wednesday, February 9, for the college celebration of his silver anniversary. For the students he chose well; it was a perfect day for a holiday. They attended the Solemn High Mass which he celebrated at ten o'clock and feasted at the dinner set in his honor; during the afternoon and evening they went hiking into the country or to town.

Because of war conditions, Father Kenkel decided months ago to make the commemoration of his ordination very informal and limited it to the college personnel. "Had it not been for this," he remarked on the eve of the celebration, "I should have wished to invite a number of friends to share this happy occasion with me." The college, too, would have much preferred to honor Father Kenkel more elaborately.

For nine and one-half years, September, 1927, to January, 1936, he was President of St. Joseph's, guiding it wisely through years of prosperity, and cautiously, through years of depression. During these years the south wing of the Gymnasium Building was extended to twice its former size, and Drexel Hall was remodeled. During these years, too, plans were begun for the construction of Seifert, Noll, and Xavier Halls. The phenomenal growth of the college in recent years, now temporarily affected by the war, had its inception during his term as president.

Besides, Father Kenkel has spent most of his twenty-five years in the priesthood either preparing himself for teaching at St. Joseph's or actually engaged in this work. His first appointment was to the Catholic University, where he obtained a doctorate of philosophy in economics in 1922. That same fall he began to teach. Between 1925 and 1927, when he was appointed president, he acted as dean of studies. And except for one semester's leave at the end of his period as president, he has taught in the social science department.

A scholar in the field of economics, Father Kenkel is a thorough and inspiring professor. Nor is his pen inactive. He has contributed articles on his subject to magazines and, at the request of the social action department of the N.C.W.C., he has prepared one of these articles, "Sharing the Profits with Employees," for publication in pamphlet form. It is the second of a series of four articles, the third of which is now in preparation.

Choosing for his text the words, "This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased; hear ye Him," the Very Reverend Aloys H. Dirksen, C.P.P.S., S.T.D., President, stressed the priesthood in his jubilee sermon. This theme, he appropriately applied to Father Kenkel. The Revs. Sylvester Hartman, C.P.P.S., and S. H. Ley, C.P.P.S., were deacon and sub-deacon of the Mass.

Alumni, M. J. Pursley Essay Contests Open

New rules will be in force for the Alumni essay contest this year. This was announced after a special meeting of the professors of the English department Monday, February 7.

There will be two divisions in the contest, one for the high school and the other for the college. Prizes in each division are twenty dollars for first, and five dollars for second place.

The deadline for both contests is April 15.

BROTHER CONRAD OPERATED ON

Monday, Feb. 7, Brother Conrad, C.P.P.S., college tailor and assistant high school prefect, underwent a serious operation at St. Elizabeth's hospital, Lafayette, Indiana. His condition is improving; it was stated.

TWO IN ONE Biology Lab Gets Freak Lamb

"Two in one" characterizes the freak lamb which the Rev. John Baechle, C.P.P.S., received recently from Remington, Ind. The lamb was born dead.

The structure and formation of the monstrosity were marked by many interesting peculiarities. Both were female; however, with two sets of ribs, four kidneys, two backbones, two hearts, two windpipes, double lungs and four ears. Although the back part of the brain was double, the front part of the head was normal.

It is amusing to note that the lamb had eight legs, two of which were on the back of the neck. Father Baechle is having the pelt stuffed for example and study.

Science Club Continues Despite Small Group

A small but active group of science students—the remnant of the Albertus Magnus Society—met Friday evening, Feb. 4, and decided to keep the society intact this semester.

Informal discussions on scientific topics will form the activity of the club, which is under the direction of the Rev. Albert Wuest, C.P.P.S., moderator.

A comparative study of science clubs at other colleges of the same size as St. Joseph's is being planned. Also, keys are being ordered for those who are entitled to them.

Robert Stineman, Tom Burger, Al Prosser and Alton Backs are the remaining members.

STUFF, Contact Find New Bed In Rensselaer Printing Shop

Realization came to a hope of the Rev. Sylvester H. Ley, C.P.P.S., a month ago when the January issue of STUFF was printed in an establishment he had helped to set up. The campus sheet and other college publications need no longer go begging, and future students of journalism will have a printing shop in which they can get first hand training in the mechanics of their profession.

"Ever since the Rev. Meinrad Koester, C.P.P.S., resigned from the position of director of publications at St. Joseph's," said Father Ley, "I wanted better facilities for printing them than were available. When Mr. Fischer and I began to offer courses leading to a major in journalism, four years ago, this desire was intensified. Finally, last fall, I approached Mr. William Campbell, proprietor of the Campbell Printing Company, a job shop in Rensselaer, for I liked his slogan, 'Printing of the Better Kind.'

"Bill was enthusiastic, and four or five alumni—every one I approached, in fact—helped with the financing. We bargained for, and finally bought, a No. 4 Miehle four-roller press of the flatbed type, old as the Jasper County sand knobs, but nevertheless very serviceable. At nearby Rochester, Indiana, it had been doing color work as late as last September.

"We bought a linotype, a saw, other accessories, and two make-up stones, the latter for the handsome sum of $5.00. Mounting these on angleiron frames, which Brother Joseph Minch, C.P.P.S., welded together for us, we have two of the best make-up tables in the United

D.M.U. To Distribute Clothes For Charity

Meeting on Feb. 6, the Dwenger Mission Unit decided to send the old clothes collected recently to the Catholic Worker charity organization, New York City. Also rosaries and other religious articles gathered for service men will be sent to the Rev. Marcellus Foltz, C.P.P.S., assistant at the Precious Blood parish, Ft. Wayne, for mending and distribution.

Each member will receive a mimeographed copy of the constitution of the D. M. U. for study and future discussion.

Discussion of the nature and aims of the Mission Unit followed the business meeting.

NEW MAIL BOXES

Students of the college department now have private mail boxes in the college post office.

Mail may be picked up there during the post office hours.

Seventy-five college students—class cards in hand—faced the professors Tuesday, Feb. 1, as the second semester of the fifty-third scholastic year of St. Joseph's College officially began. The total is a decrease from the ninety-two students enrolled during the first semester.

According to official figures from the Rev. Cletus Kern, C.P.P.S., Registrar, there are twenty-three returning students, nine new students, thirty-eight community students, and five special students.

The freshman class again leads the list in total number of students with thirty-six, followed by the sophomores, with twenty-two; the juniors, with nine; and the seniors with three (William Gray, William Stechschulte, and Stanley Wisniewski).

Registration, this semester, in the words of the Registrar and the Rev. Dr. Henry A. Lucks, C.P.P.S., was simplified much by the new pre-registration program which was inaugurated. It not only eliminated conflicts, but also lessened the amount of work on Registration day. "However," stated Father Lucks, "the program still is in the process of developing. With 100 per cent cooperation of the students, it would have worked perfectly."

Father Ley feeds the Miehle press in the newly set up print shop, Rensselaer, from where the College publications flow.

Students' Mission Crusade Announces Drama Contest

A mission drama contest has been announced by the Catholic Students' Mission Crusade, U.S.A., with prizes totaling $200, donated through the Maryknoll Society. The deadline for entrance of the plays, of which the prize winning ones will be circulated jointly by the Crusade and Maryknoll for use, without royalty, by school and parish dramatic clubs, has been set for April 10, 1944 (Easter Monday).

The plays will be graded on correctness of dramatic form, plot (which must give recognition to the principles of world Christianity), and action (which must deal with missionary work).

All manuscripts should be addressed to Mission Drama Contest Editor, the Crusade Castle, Shattuck Avenue, Cincinnati 26, Ohio.

For further details and rules of the contest, students interested may see the Rev. Edward A. Maziarz, C.P.P.S.

POLICY

(1) To constantly urge prayer and work in the hope of a lasting, early World Peace.

(2) To make every effort to keep campus reading and campus speech clean.

(3) To promote frequent attendance at Mass, the Sacraments, and evening Benediction.

Now, while the second semester is still young, is the time to encourage extracurricular activity on the campus. Especially during this year of war-time restrictions, with its absence of major athletics, exchange dances, and other forms of entertainment of normal times, some form of activity is necessary to provide balance to our college life.

During the past semester that spirit which makes for unity and fellowship among the students was predominantly displayed. The Raleigh Club held its traditional initiation; the Curtain and Newman clubs presented fine dramas; the Albertus Magnus Society had its student lecture series; and the Commerce Club, the Dwenger Mission Unit, and the Columbian Literary Society had their discussions. All tended toward developing a more contented student body.

However, once more it is time for the various club officers to get together and make plans for this semester and to invite the new students into the various organizations. It will help us all become better acquainted. Granting that the enrollment is small again this semester, we should bear in mind that one small active club is better than no club.

It would be well for each student to become active in one or the other club on the campus, especially since most of them will be small discussion clubs. Through joint discussion, those bits of knowledge gathered here and there from books, lectures and experiences (which should be amalgamated into a definite outlook on life) find their oral expression in convictions.

As college students we should be men of convictions. We should be maturing to the point where we can reason out for ourselves what is right or wrong, good or evil. We should not be as feathers floating in air, capable only of going the ways of the winds. Truth and goodness are objective and one—not subjective and many, as our modern philosophies would have us believe. We are to live according to, and place our convictions in union with, truth and goodness. We are not to be utilitarian and twist them to suit our own changing fancies. This is sound Catholic philosophy. Yet, to become a living philosophy, it must find expression in our lives and thoughts.

Small discussion clubs open the way for such expression. They are opportunities for personal expansion and development. Let's utilize them.

Addressing a group of Catholic journalists, Pope Pius XI told them: "You are my voice; I do not say that you make my voice heard, but you are really my voice itself; for few, indeed, would be the number of the children of the common Father who could learn my wishes and thoughts without the aid of the Catholic press."

Today, as our immutable principles of Christianity stand once more on trial, our Catholic journalists, through newspapers, magazines

BOOKS ARE WEAPONS

February is Catholic Press Month—a twelfth part of the year devoted to special tribute to the Catholic Press. The Catholic Press in current affairs and in the Catholic Literary Revival deserves the compliment of more intense interest. Whether in the solidity of a book, in the current-interest articles of a magazine, in the specialized treatment of a pamphlet, or in the daily particulars of a newspaper, the Catholic Press shines as a beacon in a twilight world.

Looking briefly at the list of publications of the last year, we find such works as Maisie Ward's Chesterton, Katherine Burton's Celestial Homespun, Theodore Maynard's Orestes Brownson, William Walsh's St. Teresa of Avila, The Leonard Feeney Omnibus, The Newman Treasury, and many others dealing with all phases of Catholic life.

By virtue of the ink of the Catholic Press and the forceful stroke of thoughtful Catholic reading, the Catholic pen will yet be stronger than the sword.

SELECTED EDITORIAL

When the month of February was set aside by the Bishops of this country as Catholic Press month, that action was intended to focus the eyes of Catholics on the aims and works of publications issued under Church auspices. The education of the average American in secular branches of knowledge does not come to an end when he finishes school; it continues. And a large part of it is obtained from the printed word. The knowledge of our religion comes to us through catechism class and the sermons we hear in our parish church. We can't claim to be well informed Catholics if we are satisfied with that minimum. That's where the apostolate of the printed word comes in. The Catholic press is supplementary to the Catholic school and pulpit.

Since the main aim of the Catholic newspaper and magazine is to make known the adaption of the Gospel to the needs of today, the main duty of the subscriber to the Catholic press is to learn what the mind of the Church is. Learning implies work. That's why the reading of the Catholic press isn't expected to be a completely easy task. It should be very definitely "reading with a purpose." When one grasps this concept, then the approach to a Catholic periodical is different than the approach to current secular periodicals.

What have I learned about my faith? That's the question the reader can ask himself when he puts down his Catholic paper or magazine. No matter how well-informed about his religion one may be, he will find that his diocesan paper or favorite Catholic magazine can teach him more.

CAMPUS CAPERS

Doc Robert Stineman—test tubes, volts, amperes and all—suddenly realized the importance of physical training. Uncle Sammy may have forced him to cross his wires. Anyhow, we watched to see St. Joseph's eminent physicist, chemist, and tube-maker trotting about the campus in sparkling shorts in the early morn . . . The bicep bug had bitten . . . Burger and Wolford were the trainers . . . Paderewski Gray stepped briefly into elbow-bending society during the pause between semesters. And students finally admitted that "now we have lived" . . . Humberto was on the other end of the elbow. . . . As in days of old, Wisniewski goes about the campus with a lighted lantern looking for a thesis topic. At the end of Pop's rainbow is a bowl of honor points soaking in thesis topics. . . . "I merely record" Leavitt is leaving it for somebody else soon. Problem is—where to find another index juggler. After all, we haven't all had Theory of Equations . . . Governor Bauman has been lobbying down in Prossacz's suite now that Gene Hoffmann has departed for the South to spread Northern ideas of education. . . . The governor seems lost without Rocky to argue with. . . . Many a bull was thrown in that room last semester . . . Keogh delegated his hall-sweeping job to Gray; but who is going to do the typing this semester? By the way, Herr, though you moved upstairs your mop and heart should still be downstairs . . . The floor gets dusty . . . Hula, Hula DODO, the bulk with a hulk and a freshman too, showed the upperclassmen how to wiggle it during initiation. Then we showed him how to swing it . . . What happened to Long John's paddle? Look in your "high pockets," Norm.

and books, courageously must face the battle of sin in the world. Within their grasp is the power of combating evil in the world and spreading truth, goodness and beauty.

Yet, as our Catholic journalists have their task to do, we have our corresponding obligation of avidly supporting the Catholic press. This month, February, is Catholic Press month. The least we can do here at St. Joseph's is to make the numerous Catholic periodicals in the library our friends and to become better acquainted with Catholic novels, poetry, drama, and articles. Visit the library frequently this month. Develop an interest in Catholic literature.

WITH OUR ALUMNI

Lieutenant Cornelius Vanderkolk, U.S.M.C., pointing.

Talk about your stories, here's one that is hard to believe. Jack Ford, who completed his sophomore year here in the spring of 1942, awaited sixteen months for the Army Air Corps to call him into service. In fact, he was still waiting several weeks ago—that is until he decided that he would come back to St. Joe this semester and work toward his degree while waiting. A recent letter from Jack stated that the day he was packing to come back to St. Joe, the Air Corps called him. Think that one over . . . Now and then a letter comes in with a few lines written into it which we think should be passed on. They reflect a lot the kind of St. Joe men that are fighting this war . . . "When I came into the army, I thought I was the unlucky guy, but I look at it quite differently now, and see that it is the ones back home—wives, mothers, etc.—that are the ones to be pitied. Their hands are tied. They feel utterly helpless in the situation, and all they can do is worry, hope and pray. Whereas we are on the go constantly and really have little time to ponder over the situation. And should fate have it that we should never come back, we certainly wouldn't bear the ill effects, but the ones at home would. To be truthful, the main reason I want to come home is for the folks' sake. True, no one can say he actually wants to die, but if one is in the proper state of mind and soul, he is that much closer to eternal happiness." (Pee Wee Shaw) . . . Here are a few lines borrowed from a letter printed in Contact—"I hope your wish comes true—that I'll be back by September 1. I'll buy a horse, build a fire-place, and settle down to enjoy life. I shall have old wine to drink, old wood to burn, old books to read, and old friends to talk with. I will have a good wife, a good horse, a good home, a good pipe. Who could ask for more?" (Lieut. Edward A. Fischer) . . . Odds and Ends—Back at Fordham University after a furlough, John McCabe, ASTP, is beginning another semester in engineering with such courses as analytic geometry, solid geometry, and chemistry . . . Dan Reinman expects three more months at State University of Iowa in Meteorology under ASTP. Dan has been there nine months now. His brother Joe is now an Ensign in the Navy, stationed at Boston, Mass . . . Bob Cavey, training under the Naval Air Corps at Corpus Christi, Texas, met Joe Reardon and Howie Guckien way down in Texas for a nice St. Joe reunion . . . Jack Pepper is on the boxing squad at Purdue U., where he is stationed with the Marines . . . Gene Ryan is in ASTP . . . Ensign Pete Varini is now at Oceanside, Calif . . . and Pfc. Ted Swierczek is in OCS with the Marines at Camp Lejeune, N. C. . . . Ensign Stan Lapsys visited the campus recently . . . Charley Hodges is now a corporal at Camp Davis, N. C.

In the B game, John Hummel scored eight points; however, St. Joe lost the game by one point, 23 to 22.

The Academy hung up a 48-11 victory, their third of the season, against Wheatfield January 25. The defensive play of the Cubs which held Wheatfield to four goals, stood out in the game.

Clarence Steffes was high-score man for the cubs with fourteen points; Nyikos and Eder netted ten each. The score at the half was 28-6.

Coaches have daughters, too. An eight-pound, eleven-ounce baby girl, Maureen Kathryn, was born to Coach and Mrs. Dick Scharf at St. Margaret's hospital, Hammond, Ind., Feb. 3. The baby will be baptized at Hammond this Sunday, Feb. 20.

Both mother and baby—the second child of the Scharfs — are doing nicely, according to Dick.

D. Clemens Replaces Dobe As Cub Captain

Dave Clemens, senior from Canelton, Indiana, was chosen by the academy cub basketball squad as new captain to replace Jim Dobe, who transferred to the college department.

Richard Kissner was elected president of the Curtain Club for the second semester at a regular meeting held Sunday, Feb. 6. He replaces Joe Condich.

Other officers chosen were William Schenk, vice-president; Joe McNicholas, secretary; Richard Cody, treasurer; and John Gazda, critic. Members of the executive board are Fred Hunnefeld, William Eilerman and Leo Herber.

During the week of Jan. 24, the Monogram clubroom in the basement of Science Hall was converted into a Physics demonstration laboratory. The Rev. Alfred Zanolar, C.P.P.S., Chairman of the department of Mathematics, and Bro. Joe Minch, C.P.P.S., college plumber, supervised the work.

Part of the equipment of the Physics demonstration room on the third floor will be moved into the new lab.

Al Prosser, junior from East St. Louis, Ill., assumed the presidency of the Raleigh Smoking Club, Feb. 3, at a special meeting of all old members. Al, former vice-president, fills the vacancy left by Gene Hoffman, who graduated. Joe Wolford was elected secretary to replace Don Leavitt, who transferred to Marquette U.

During the meeting, plans for the initiation of new members were discussed as well as the possibilities for some form of party in the near future. The Rev. Edmund Guillozet, C.P.P.S., moderator, presided.

On Feb. 6, the club attended Mass and received Holy Communion in a body for all former members now in the armed forces.

Meeting with the faculty advisors, the Revs. Henry Martin, C.P.P.S., and Cletus Kern, C.P.P.S., on Thursday evening, Feb. 10, the staff of Twin Towers, academy year book, laid plans for a fund-drive which will last until Feb. 23.

A seven-dollar quota was set for each student; tabulations, according to the classes, will be kept on charts drawn by Aubrey Serewicz.

There is a possibility that thumb-nail pictures of the individual students will be used this year in place of the former group class-pictures. New campus views, as well as faculty portraits are in mind.

that the new X-Ray machine acquired by the college might be set up in the former staff office, near the physics demonstration labs and college photo shop.

STUFF thanks staff members Jim Bates, Mark Forsthoefel and Dick McDevitt for assistance given in moving the office equipment to the first floor, southeast corner, Gaspar Hall.

Many familiar faces are missing on the campus now that the second semester is underway. Besides graduation, which took six students from the ranks, the armed forces cut deeply into the enrollment.

Air Cadets who didn't return are Jerry Cleary, Jack Foley, Ken DeWitt, Phil Rasak and Bill Moran, while those who were recently inducted into the army are Ed Galm, Bob Glassmeyer, John Walker and Eugene Klinefelter.

Among the students who transferred to other universities are Jack Welsh and Don Leavitt to Marquette U., and Bill Miller to the University of Louisville. Graduate William Keogh entered the Capuchin Monastery, Huntington, Ind., on Feb. 14, to begin a year's novitiate.

Don Damon, Tom Desmond, William Rowen and Ted Urbanczyk are other students missing this semester.

"Moonlight Sonata," a movie, presented in the college theatre Feb. 12, was the fifth in a series of screen entertainments this year. By way of variety, the Xavier band played a few numbers before the show started.

Another picture will be presented some time in April.

"Folding, we do for the present by hand, or I should say, by hands, for Campbell has a wife and three children, who all pitch in. He painted some of the equipment red, saying, 'We'll paint it black when we get out of the red,' so I guess the folder will be added at that time."

"It's a beginning. Some day the No. 4 Michle, Serial Number 219, will be discarded for a more modern outfit; meanwhile it will clatter out STUFF regularly—clatter but never groan."
